Fiscal Management Challenges in Latin America and the Caribbean

Agenda

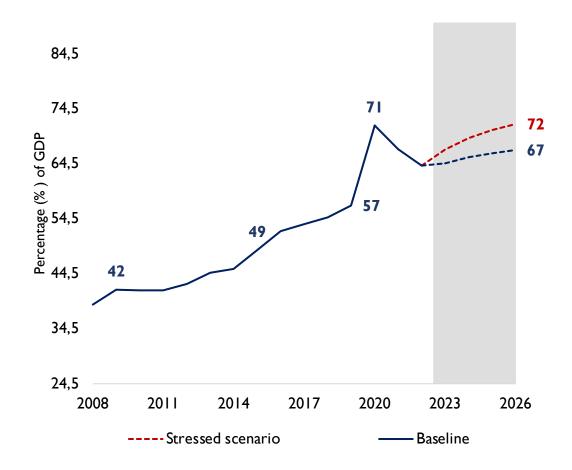

1. Recent evolution of fiscal positions in Latin America and the Caribbean

2. How to make a fiscal consolidation that protects economic growth?

3. New Fiscal Architecture to improve equity and formality

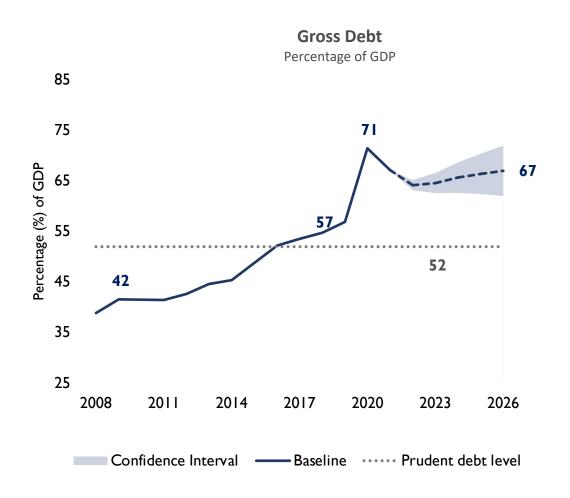

Fiscal accounts have improved after COVID-19, ... but higher interest rates are putting pressure

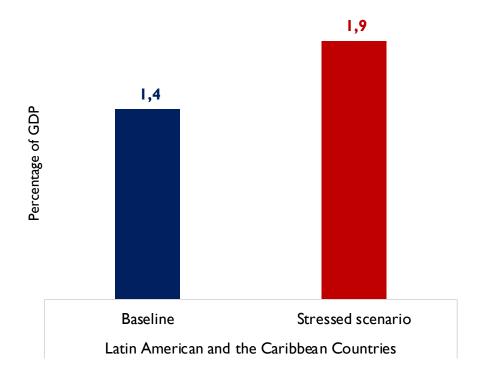

Debt continues to be far from pre-pandemic and prudent levels requiring an average fiscal adjustment of 1.4pp of GDP

Additional Fiscal Effort to Converge to Prudent Debt Percentage of GDP

Agenda

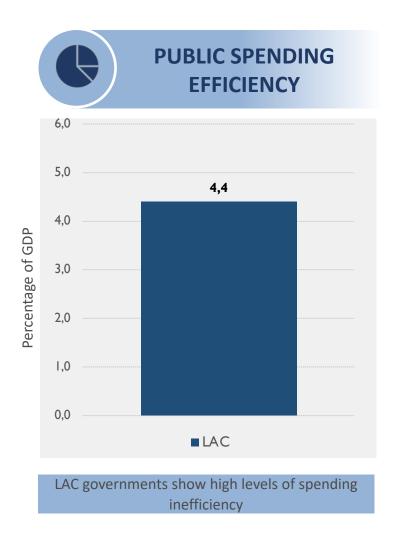

1. Recent evolution of fiscal positions in the Latin America and the Caribbean

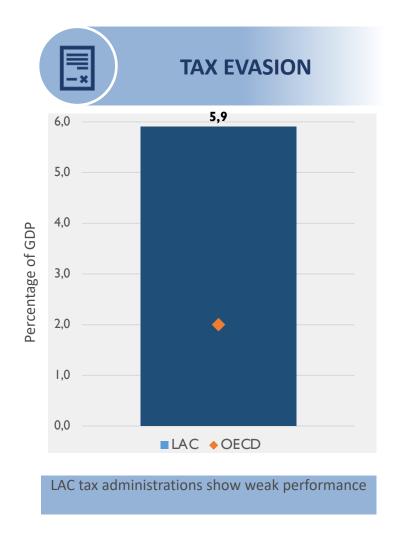

2. How to make a fiscal consolidation that protects economic growth?

3. New Fiscal Architecture to improve equity and formality

Fiscal consolidation programs should focus on reducing spending inefficiencies and tax evasion to protect economic growth

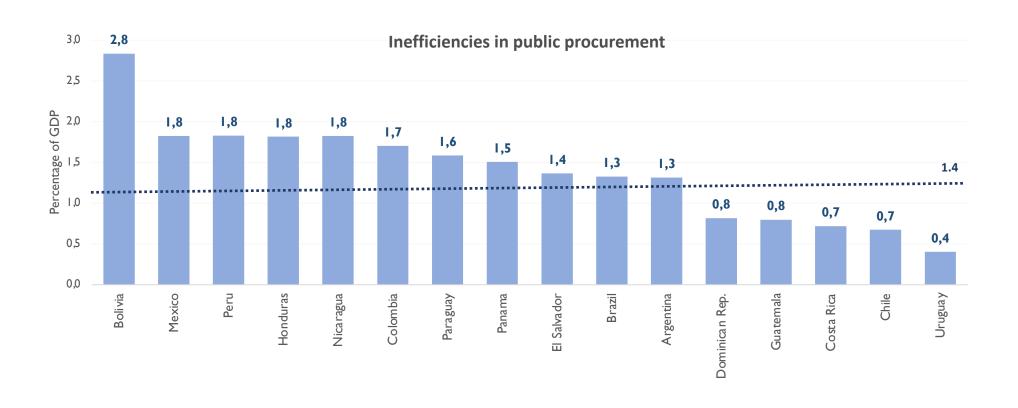

One key pillar for increasing spending efficiency is strengthening public procurement systems

Waste in public procurement in LAC countries is about 17%, which is equivalent to 1.4% of GDP

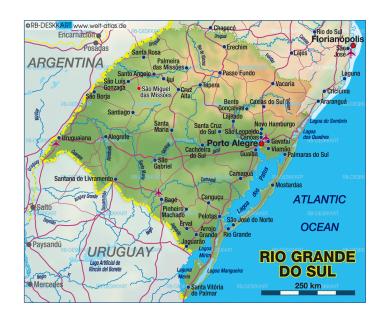

Innovations in public procurement can yield important savings

Use of framework agreements led to a 10% reduction in unit prices in comparison to other open procurement methods

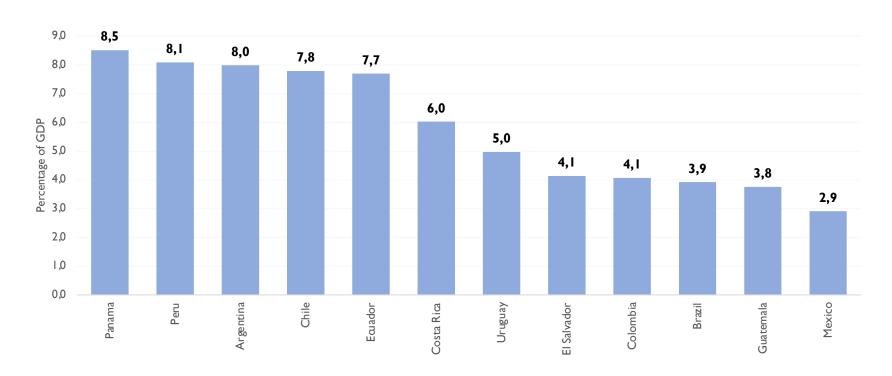

Access to reference prices based on e-invoices produced savings of 13-18% in most expensive medicines

Reducing tax evasion could contribute to reducing fiscal deficits and promoting fiscal consolidation

Evasion of main taxes could be as high as 5.9% of GDP

Tax Evasion Estimates
(as % of GDP)

Innovations in tax administrations can yield important results, both in terms of increased control and compliance facilitation

11.7% increase in states' revenue collections due to modernization of tax administrations

97% of all VAT fillings are done using the draft-VAT return suggestion reducing dramatically the cost of compliance

Informing taxpayers, the tax amount due increased reported revenue in 39%

Agenda

1. Recent evolution of fiscal positions in the Latin America and the Caribbean

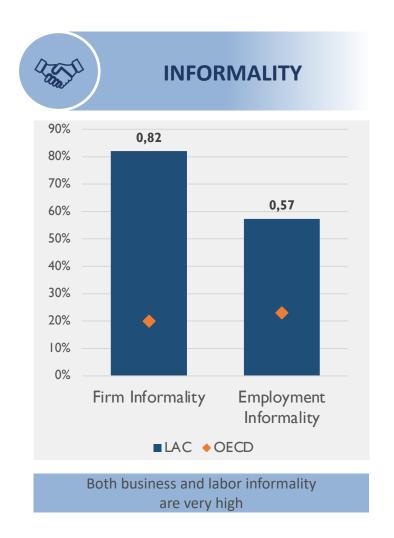

2. How to make a fiscal consolidation that protects economic growth?

3. New Fiscal Architecture to improve equity and formality

We need a new Fiscal Architecture to increase redistributive impacts of government interventions and promote formality

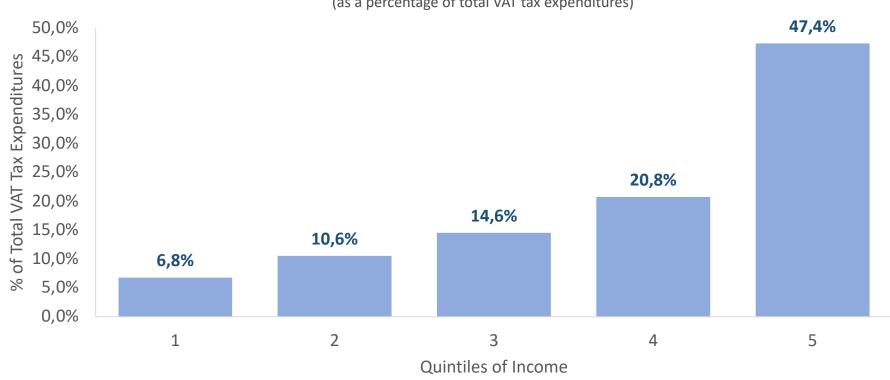

Low redistributive power of fiscal policy can be partly explained by important leakages in social programs and by tax structures

Tax expenditures due to preferential VAT treatments tend to be pro-rich

Personalized VAT could reduce inequality and increase revenues

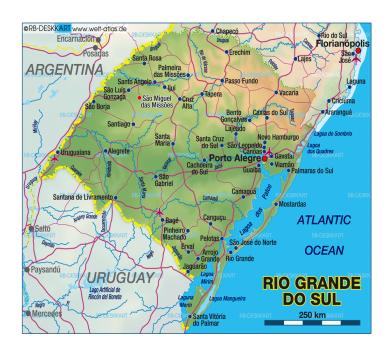

Several governments in the region are already implementing personalized VAT programs for target groups

More than 175,000 beneficiaries and more than USD 76 million in tax reimbursements in 2021

ICMS Devolve. More than 600,000 registered households and transfers of more than USD 45 million in 2022

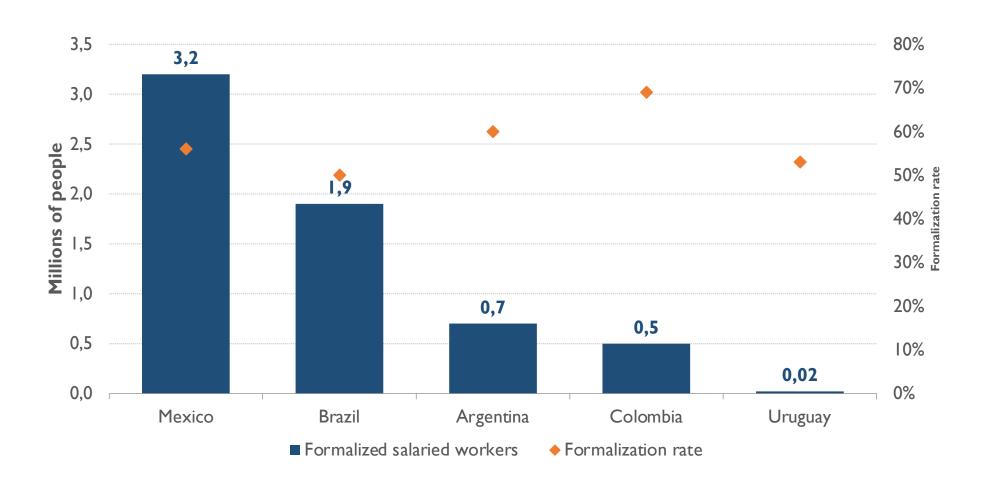

Labor informality could be reduced by lowering tax burdens on formal low-income workers

Tax burdens on wages of low-income formal workers are high

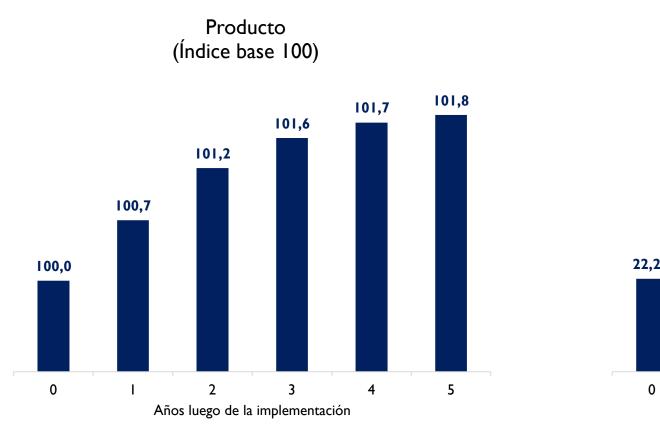

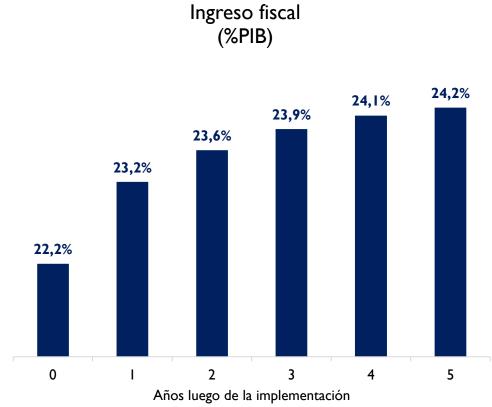

This reduction of tax burdens could be achieved through Negative Income Tax

..... that increases GDP and Revenues

Compliance Costs are particularly large for small firms

Incentives for formalization could be increased by unifying federal, state, municipal tax fillings

Summing up ...

Weak fiscal stance of most LAC countries

- Debt levels have been decreasing, but remain above prudent levels
- Increased debt services are pressuring public finances

Fiscal consolidations must be growth friendly

- Increase the quality of public spending
- Improve resource mobilization through enhanced tax administration

LAC countries need to promote equality and formalization

- Strengthen redistributive impact of fiscal policies, both by policy design and management
- Encourage formality by targeted reduction of tax burdens on the poor households and strengthening STR
